

Anaphylaxis Management at Aquatic Centres

There is a need to ensure that first aid and emergency procedures are in place for children/young people who are at risk of anaphylaxis. The environment in which the program operates and the location where these children and young people participate influence the first aid procedures that need to be in place to provide a timely and appropriate emergency response in the event of an allergic/anaphylaxis.

PRIOR to the aquatic session instructors:

Need to be alerted to any child/young person at risk of anaphylaxis. o
